

Presenting Project WILD and Flying WILD

Join the Louisville Zoo and Morehead State University for fun, content, and hands-on activities.

When: June 23, 2009 from 9:00 to 5pm

Where: The Louisville Zoo

Cost: $15 which includes two activity books, Flying WILD student pages CD, prizes, and lunch.

To Register: Send payment to April Haight (a.haight@moreheadstate.edu; (606) 783-2455) at LC 101A IRAPP, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351. To ensure you place in the workshop register no later than June 5th. Participants are limited to 25. Along with your payment include the following:

Name: _____

Phone: _____ Email: _____

Organization/School: _____

Address: _____

Groups taught: _____

About Project WILD and Flying WILD: These workshops are a great opportunity for Professional Development. Project WILD (www.projectwild.org) is a conservation and environmental education program designed for K-12. Using wildlife as a focus, Project WILD addresses the need for humans to become environmental stewards of our planet. Flying WILD (www.flyingwild.org) introduces students specifically to bird conservation through standards-based activities. The program is designed primarily for middle school students in urban areas. Flying WILD focuses on environmental stewardship and service learning.

Sponsored by: Environmental Education Council, Morehead State University Regional Engagement, Kentucky Environmental Education Council, and Louisville Zoo.